

"June," by John W. Alexander, Recently Presented to the National Gallery of Art.

Mrs. Chester F. Williams, an Aerial Performer of Melbourne, Australia, "Flying" Over Broad Street, Newark. The Performance Was a Part of the Six-Month Celebration of Newark's 250th Anniversary.

This attractive tennis costume is of ratine. The coat is of flowered ratine, with collar and cuffs of the same material that goes to make the skirt.

Clara Kimball Young, Film Favorite.

This evening gown is of black gros de londres, trimmed with Spanish lace and large jet buckles. The cluster of purple roses at the girdle gives the needed touch of color.

No Matter How Hot the Summer Months May Be the Ostrich Feather is Going to Be a Prominent Part of Milady's Apparel.

For Full Information, Apply RECRUITING STATION Miss Edna Payne, in Sailor's Cap and Middy, Photographed in Front of the Enlistment Station Established by Her in New York, the First Ever Opened by a Woman. There, She and Her Sister, Miss Lillian, Are Daily Winning Scores of Recruits for Uncle Sam's Army and Navy.